At length Lieutenant Bullard, who was master of JJ? the prize, hauled down his flag. He thought he had seen enough fun, and they might hurt somebody afterwhile if they kept on firing. But what was the chagrin of the British captains to find that all they had done was to take back one of their own vessels, while the American frigate had gone free. The Constitution and the Cyane got safely to the American shores, where their officers learned that the war had ceased more than three months before. But the country was proud of their good service and Congress gave medals of honor to Stewart and his officers. That was the last warlike service of the gallant Old Ironsides, the most famous ship of the American Navy. Years passed by and her timbers rotted away, as they had done once before. Some of the wise heads in the Navy Department, men without a grain of sentiment, decided that she was no longer of any use and should be broken up for old timber. But if they had no love for the good old ship, there were those who had, and a poet, Oliver Wendell THE NAVAL ARCH. Erected in New York to commemorate Admiral Dewey s famous victory in Manila Bay, 1898. Holmes, came to the rescue. This is the poem by which he saved the ship: THE OLD IRONSIDES. Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!...
