

Inventing Chemistry Herman Boerhaave and the Reform of the Chemical Arts Synthesis

By John C. Powers

University Of Chicago Press. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Hardcover. 272 pages. Dimensions: 9.1in. x 6.1in. x 0.9in. In Inventing Chemistry, historian John C. Powers turns his attention to Herman Boerhaave (1668-1738), a Dutch medical and chemical professor whose work reached a wide, educated audience and became the template for chemical knowledge in the eighteenth century. The primary focus of this study is Boerhaave's educational philosophy, and Powers traces its development from Boerhaave's early days as a student in Leiden through his publication of the Elementa chemiae in 1732. Powers reveals how Boerhaave restructured and reinterpreted various practices from diverse chemical traditions including craft chemistry, Paracelsian medical chemistry, and alchemy, shaping them into a chemical course that conformed to the pedagogical and philosophical norms of Leiden's medical faculty. In doing so, Boerhaave gave his chemistry a coherent organizational structure and philosophical foundation and thus transformed an artisanal practice into an academic discipline. Inventing Chemistry will be essential reading for historians of chemistry, medicine, and academic life. Reviews

Thorough information! Its this sort of good read. It is actually written in straightforward words rather than confusing. I am just delighted to let you know that this is basically the best book we have read within my personal existence and can be the greatest pdf for actually.

-- Dr. Henri Crona II

It is a single of the most popular ebook. It really is simplified but excitement in the fifty percent from the pdf. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
